Racket Investigators Find Teamster Trail Leads to Consultants

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate rackets investigators said today their probe already is reaching into certain management practices as well as labor union operations

Roberty Kennedy, chief counsel of the committee searching for evidence of racketeering in labor and industry, said later hearings on alleged payment of more than $20,000 in Teamsters Union funds to Nathan W Shefferman, a Chicago management consultant, "will lead into certain companies" He did not name the companies

Study Alleged Plot

The first three weeks of the committee's hearings have dealt with an alleged plot by Teamsters officials to "muscle in" on vice profits in Portland, Ore The hearings resume Tuesday with more testimony from Frank W Brewster West Coast Teamsters boss

Meantime, a federal grand jury was expected to finish today its consideration of bribery charges against James R Hoffa, reputed to be the real power in the giant Teamsters Union Whatever action the grand jury decides to take may not be known for several days

'To Ask Hoffa'

Hoffa, a Teamster vice president and head of the union's Midwest organization, was arrested last week and charged with bribing a lawyer to join the staff of the rackets committee and feed him information Hoffa, free on $25,000 bond, has protested his innocence

Dave Beck, Teamsters president, said in Tacoma, Wash, Sunday night, "I intend to ask" Hoffa about the charges Beck, interviewed on television said he had not talked with Hoffa since Hoffa's

Golda Meir Flies to U.S. For Parleys

Bids for American Support After Nasser Takes Charge in Gaza

WASHINGTON (AP)—Israel's Foreign Minister Golda Meir took to Secretary of State Dulles today an urgent plea for U S action to curb Egyptian moves before war erupts in the Middle East again

Mrs Meir was ushered into Dulles' office at 10 00 a m (EST) The conference was the goal which she sought in a hurried flight from Jerusalem over the weekend

3 Aides Accompany Envoy

Accompanying the envoy were three aides, bearing big envelopes and stuffed brief cases The aides were Israel's Ambassador Abba Eban Minister Reuven Shiloah and Gedeon Rafael, a member of Israel's United Nations delegation

Dulles arrived back in Washington Sunday from the Far East He held immediate consultations with top aides on the Egypt Israel crisis and set up today's meeting with Mrs Meir

Mrs Meir flew from Jerusalem in a dramatic bid for American support She arrived Sunday at the same airport and almost at the same time as Dulles, back from the Far East But they never met

Dulles closeted himself with aides for a couple of hours, then authorized an announcement that he would see Mrs Meir today The time was not announced

Follows Nasser's Action

Mrs Meir made her flight after Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser ordered Egyptians to take back control over the Gaza Strip from United Nations forces which had replaced withdrawing Israeli troops This, plus Egyptian talk about re imposing the Suez Canal and Gulf of Aqaba blockades against Israel shipping, ran counter to Israeli assumptions on which the withdrawal was based

"I am quite convinced," Mrs Meir told reporters at the airport Sunday, "that with the Egyptians in the Gaza Strip we have returned to the same situation that we had before Oct 29"

That was the date Israel attacked Egypt last fall, reporters noted Did that mean, she was asked, that Israel would fight again if Egypt assumed what Israel regarded as too much authority in Gaza?

"I can't say at this time," she replied

Dulles booked a busy day Besides seeing Mrs Meir and catching up on Middle East developments during his 11 day absence in the Far East he arranged afternoon appearances before the House Foreign Affairs and Senate Foreign Relations committees

EGYPTIAN GOVERNOR TAKES OVER IN GAZA. Maj Gen. Mohammed Hassan Abdel Latif, Egypt's new governor of Gaza, sits in his office in his residence in the city of Gaza and confers with one of his aides Latif moved into the Gaza Strip with 50 military policemen The swift takeover of the disputed territory by the Egyptians raised the tension in Israel as foreign minister Golda Meir made a flying trip to the United States for conferences on the situation in Washington.

Leader's Death Mourned

Plane Crash Kills Filipino President

MANILA (AP) — Vice President Carlos P Garcia took over the reins of government today as the world mourned the plane-crash death of President Ramon Magsaysay

Garcia flew in from the SEATO conference in Australia several hours after Magsaysay's charred body was found in the wreckage of his plane on a Cebu Island mountainside

Takes Oath of Office

The 60-year-old vice president took the oath of office as fourth president of the Philippine Republican before Chief Justice Richardo Paras He will serve until after next November's presidential elections, which now promise to be a wide-open fight.

A staunch supporter of Magsaysay's foreign policy, Garcia is expected to continue the late President's aim of strengthening American - Philippine friendship

The new president told newsmen he planned no changes in the cabinet and would himself continue to fill the post of secretary of foreign affairs he had held under Magsaysay

Crashes in Jungle

Magsaysay, 49 year-old champion of democracy and bitter foe of communism, perished early Sunday when his twin-engine plane crashed in dense jungle just after leaving Cebu for Manila

Questionnaires Mailed

Draft Board To Classify Servicemen in Reserves

Cutler A McGrew, chairman of the draft board for Marion County, today announced the receipt of Standby Reserve forms from State Selective Service Headquarters along with instructions for helping evaluate the reservists in this county

"The Congress in its last session, enacted a law placing upon the Selective Service System responsibility for screening the nation's entire Standby Reserve, men and women The reservists are being mailed questionnaires to be filled out and returned to local boards for use in determining their availability in time of national emergency," Mr McGrew said

In explaining why the Standby Reservists are receiving these questionnaires, the local board chairman pointed out some of the problems which faced the Standby Reservists in years past

He recalled "In time of emergency the Standby Reservist had no way of judging if and when he would be called to active duty This was actually less knowledge than most Selective Service registrants had in regard to their status, since Selective Service registrants could find out many things regarding their situation and also had the opportunity of presenting information to their draft boards (made up of local people) who could take action to reclassify the registrants where circumstances warranted it The Standby Reservist meanwhile was trying to judge his vulnerability by watching and listening to news reports The new law was designed to correct this situation by insuring that each Standby Reservist would be called to active duty only after full consideration had been given all the facts in his case as well as the weighing of the effect that his entry on active duty would have on the national health safety or interest"

Each Standby Reservist will be placed in one of three categories, based upon the information in his questionnaire I R (available)

Beck Explains Loans Granted By Teamsters

TACOMA, Wash (AP)—Dave Beck said Sunday he had borrowed an estimated $300,000 to $400 000 from the Western Conference of Teamsters, without interest, while he headed the union's regional organization

The general president of the international union said the loans long since have been repaid

He said "I don't recall when asked whether he had written notes to the 11-state union organization at the time of the loans

His acknowledgement and explanation of the loans was a high point of his appearance on a national television program

Raps Conduct of Hearing

Beck waiting to appear before the special Senate committee investigating alleged rackets in labor unions, criticized sharply the conduct of the Senate hearing and the type of witnesses and declared, 'The teamsters have nothing to hide whatsoever"

He said if the hearing were conducted by judicial procedures there would be no complaint'

And he said he would decide at a Tuesday night conference in Seattle with former Sen James Duff of Pennsylvania, his new counsel whether he would produce personal records, as demanded by the Senate committee Sen McClellan (D Ark) has set Wednesday noon as the deadline for Beck's reply—with a warning a subpoena will be issued if Beck refuses

Describes Loans

In describing the loans from the Western Conference Beck said they involved funds which were in non-interest bearing bank accounts He said he borrowed the money for some of the real estate deals that he said had earned him hundreds of thousands of dollars.

U.N. Force Pulling Out Of Gaza, Guards Border

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—UN forces appeared today to be withdrawing from positions they had taken up throughout the Gaza Strip and deploying along the Gaza-Israeli border

Maj Gen E L M Burns, commander of the UN Emergency Force, said his troops "are already partly deployed along the demarcation line" However, he indicated UNEF had not withdrawn completely from towns in the strip

Gaza dispatches said the UN forces had pulled out of road checkpoints in the southern part of the strip but that Egyptian troops had not yet moved in.

UN Undersecretary Ralph Bunche and Constantin Stavropoulos, a UN legal expert, shuttled back and forth between Gaza and Cairo Bunche declined to say definitely that the Egyptians had taken over Gaza's administration "because that implies many things"

Bunche and Burns conferred Sunday night with Brig Salah Gohar, director of the Egyptian Palestine Department The two UN officials left by plane today to inspect UNEF positions at Gaza and Sharm el Sheikh under strong UN and US pressure, on the assumption that the UN would take over both civilian and military responsibility in the two areas

Last Thursday Egyptian officials, including a governor general, Maj Gen Mohamed Hassan Abdel Latif, moved in only a week after the Israelis withdrew.

Pledges 'Increasing Consultation'

Nixon Promises Italians Hand in Mideast Policy

ROME (AP)—Vice President Nixon pledged today there will be "increasing consultation" between the U S and Italian governments on such critical mutual problems as the Middle East crisis

Nixon spoke at a news conference just before taking off for Tunisia, last stop on his eight nation African tour He had flown up from Africa to see Pope Pius XII and Italian officials over the weekend

Some Italian circles have complained that the United States, in formulating its Middle East policy does not take into sufficient account Italy's geographic proximity to the area and her economic interests there

Nixon said 'any failure to consult which may have seemed to exist in the past" was due to the "urgent nature" of the problems

The vice president was almost mobbed by a huge throng which gathered at the entrance to the Rome railway station, where he went to launch the "open skies for peace" exhibit sponsored by the U S Information Agency

Pope Pius told Nixon Sunday that he was comforted by the way President Eisenhower and the American people practice good will to settle international disputes But the pontiff added there is still a great need for defense measures and for charters and policy statements "rounded out with solemn sanctions"

Nixon delivered to the pontiff a message from President Eisenhower expressing the wish that the Pope's "labor in the interest of world concord" may prove an inspiration to new nations

The message said Eisenhower was "highly gratified" that Nixon had the opportunity to visit the head of the Roman Catholic Church

"I have asked the vice president to convey to you my warm personal best wishes for your continued well being, and to express to you the affection and high esteem of the American people," the message said.

Jesus Loved Them

By Patrick and Garrison

BARTHOLOMEW

"And when it was day, he called unto him his disciples and of them he chose twelve, whom also he named apostles; Simon, (whom he also named Peter,) and Andrew his brother, James and John, Philip and Bartholomew, . ."

—Luke VI:13,14

Bartholomew was one of the Apostles whose life story has been lost to us during the centuries that have passed since he was first called by Jesus to be one of the Twelve.

A number of authorities believe he is the same person as Nathanael, mentioned in the Gospel of John, (I:45-51).

This opinion is based on the fact that Bartholomew is not a proper name, but merely served to identify him as the son of Tolmai.

Moreover, the name Bartholomew is never mentioned in the Gospel according to John. But in the latter Evangelist's list of Apostles, Nathanael is the name given in the place accorded to Bartholomew in the other three Gospels.

Scholars reason, therefore, that John may have referred to him by his given name, where the other three Gospel writers followed the Hebrew custom of calling him the son of Tolmai.

It was Philip who first told Nathanael of Jesus. And, John relates, Nathanael replied somewhat contemptuously, "Can there any good thing come out of Nazareth?"

But upon first seeing Jesus, Nathanael followed Him as readily as the other disciples, declaring, "Rabbi, thou art the Son of God."

According to traditions of the early Church, Bartholomew became a missionary to the East, preaching in Mesopotamia, Persia, Egypt, and Armenia.

Legends say he was martyred in Albanopolis, Armenia. The manner of his death is variously reported as having been crucifixion, beheading, and being flayed alive.

The immortal Michaelangelo apparently inclined to the latter story, for in his famous painting, "The Last Judgment," a flayed Bartholomew is shown holding his own skin in his hand.

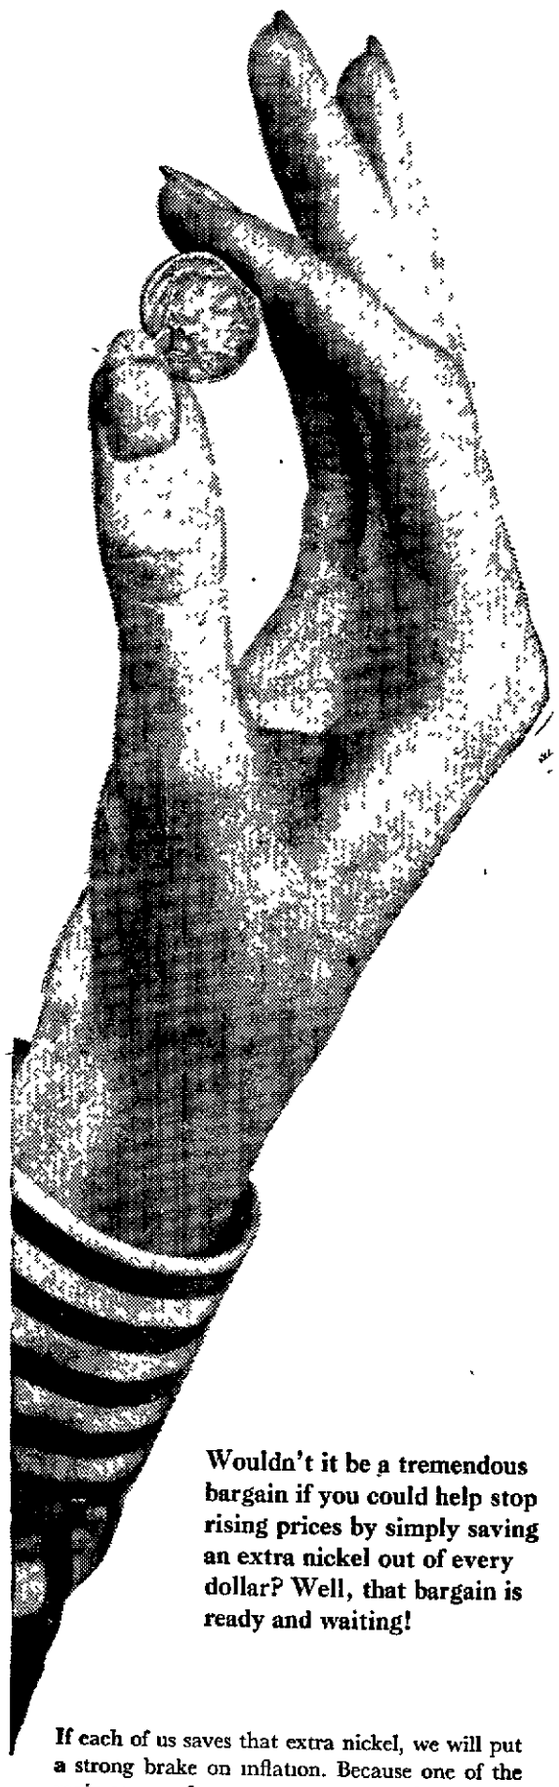
Today's biggest bargain

... for just a nickel



Wouldn't it be a tremendous bargain if you could help stop rising prices by simply saving an extra nickel out of every dollar? Well, that bargain is ready and waiting!

If each of us saves that extra nickel, we will put a strong brake on inflation. Because one of the main causes of rising prices is overspending.

These extra nickels will produce billions of dollars in savings—money which is urgently needed to finance more factories, homes and schools.

And, of course, you get a personal bonus from your extra savings—the feeling of independence and security that a growing nest egg brings . . . the feeling that your house is in order.

As a second step to fight inflation, all of us should support every reasonable move to reduce government spending—federal, state and local.

Sure, all this means a sacrifice. But isn't it worth it, if this means continuing our prosperity —and keeping it sound?

Officials Say Mexican Girl Must Return

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP)—A 13-year-old girl who has lived here the past 2½ years will be returned to her grandparents in Nogales Sonora, Mexico

Mercedes Costa is believed to be in the United States illegally, according to officials.

The Mexican Embassy in Washington advised the Gertrude Ramey Children's Home, where Mercedes has been staying, it would be best for all concerned to return the girl to her grandparents as soon as possible

The grandparents are Argel and Juanita Costa

Mercedes was brought here in September of 1955 by Mrs. Jeanne Teterick, who said she met the child in Nogales, Ariz., just across the border from Nogales, Mexico.

Mrs. Teterick said the grandmother gave permission for Mercedes to come here and said there would be no trouble obtaining the proper papers

But Mrs Teterick was charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor by failing to send Mercedes to school

Mrs Teterick said she thought it would be cruel to send the girl to school with children who would have more knowledge

Mercedes was ordered placed in the children's home Since then, the head of the home said, Mercedes has been doing good schoolwork.

Britain's Colonies Being Prepared For Independence

CINCINNATI (AP)—A British official says his country is pouring 600 million dollars into its colonies to help prepare them for independence.

Douglas Williams, colonial attache at Britain's Washington Embassy, said in an interview Sunday that the British colonial empire will be one-fourth its present size by 1967.

Williams, who appeared on a telecast here (Great Decisions, WLW-T) said Ghana, the African nation which became independent last week, is a good example of the policy.

He said other colonies aiming for independence are Malaya, Nigeria, Malta and Jamaica and associated West Indies islands.

As for Cyprus, Williams said the island "might possibly do the same thing if the terrorism there is called off and the Greek and Turkish Cypriots can get together on a constitution."

Not Anxious for Council Job, Doctor Tells Voters

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (AP) — A candidate for the City Council, who says he needs the job "like I need a hole in the head," told voters: "Don't vote for me April 2."

Dr. David H. Smith, a physician, said in a statement Sunday that if citizens don't care about contaminated water, sewage dumped near city wells, too many gnats and flies going unsprayed, and unsanitary food establishments, they shouldn't mark their ballots in his behalf.

"If I am not elected, I'll go fishing," he declared.

Dredging Job Could Hold Up Seaway Work

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A possibility of delay in the St. Lawrence Seaway and power projects looms because of difficulty in engaging contractors for a major phase.

Involved is the deepening of a channel south of Cornwall Island to the standard seaway depth of 27 feet.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers had estimated the cost at 18 million dollars but the lowest total bid received is 32 million.

Stanley B. Hunt, chief of engineering in the U.S. Army Engineers' district office here, said Sunday night a decision on the bids had to be made in a week or so.

The engineer confirmed reports that there was a possibility of a delay in both the seaway and power projects.

Grass-Roots Movement

Among many revealing things being brought to light by the special Senate committee taking testimony about racketeering in unions and business is the pressure of resentment among union members against union leaders who have abused their trust.

Investigators laying the groundwork for the public hearings which later make news have discovered an abundance of witnesses fed up with activities that give unionism a black eye.

Not all the witnesses will appear in the public hearings because of fear of retaliation. But there is no lack of men and women willing to tell what they know about shady dealings that have betrayed the honest members of unions.

A grass-roots movement to clean up unions is now in progress.

It is supported by the top leaders of AFL-CIO, who welcome a chance to draw a line of demarcation between responsible leadership and irresponsible leadership.

They, themselves, have drawn up and adopted a code of ethics for AFL-CIO leaders which would bar practices now under investigation.

As keenly aware as they are of the danger of a bad public reaction from the Senate investigation, they are aware also — as are all responsible unionists — of a worse public reaction from abuses that never have been aired in a thorough investigation.

The ultimate remedy lies with state legislatures and the U.S. Congress, which must pass laws to help unions accept responsibility for the power they have been granted by law and by custom.

For Revenue Only

If the same close attention given to rough places in the federal income tax while taxpayers are making their annual reports could be continued 12 months a year, Congress would be kept on the defensive.

Legislators who write tax bills do not lack evidence that taxpayers have a lively interest in income tax laws.

Teachers, for example, wonder why a business executive can deduct the cost of wining and dining a client in a night club when they cannot deduct the cost of cheese sandwiches and a glass of milk while going to summer school to maintain their standing in a low-paid occupation.

Bread-winners who must drive to work are wondering why they cannot deduct some of the cost of transportation, the same as other taxpayers who are privileged to escape paying taxes on money spent in making a living. These are two examples of glaring inequities in the federal income tax.

But inequities never are removed without a hard campaign against them for a reason which the framers of tax laws cannot discuss openly. The reason is that tax laws are designed to produce revenue, not friends. And as in all things under representative democracy, the squeaking wheels always get the grease.

If enough school teachers and bread-winners made their opinions known about what they regard as inequities, they eventually would have tax deductions allowed. Tax laws are not written and enacted by moralists, but by men trying to produce revenue.

Purse-Power

In New York State a proposed quarter-billion-dollar bond issue for state university construction in the next five years shows which way the wind is blowing in higher education.

Although New York has confined itself to junior college (first two years) up to this time, senior colleges would be added in the proposed expansion. This would bring the Empire State into line with the trend in states like Ohio, which are deeply committed to senior-college education at state expense.

Ohio's new commission on education beyond high school has been instructed by Gov. O'Neill to study ways and means to provide college facilities "for every young man and woman . . . willing to obtain an education beyond high school.".

Some measure of the rate of spending entailed in such a program can be arrived at by the operating expenses for Ohio's five universities in the current year — a budget item of $38 million that is rising steadily. Next year it will go to more than $41 million. Two new senior universities are being proposed in Ohio, moreover. New construction is paid for separately.

Experts agree that private colleges and universities have no chance to expand at the rate considered imperative for tax-supported schools; income and inheritance taxes take too much wealth that otherwise might be turned over to these voluntary institutions. Moreover, they do not want to expand at the expense of losing their teaching integrity, which they are struggling to preserve with larger annual increases in tuition fees accompanied by aggressive campaigns for more operating funds from private sources.

Those who are concerned lest education come under political control need to look beyond elementary and high schools to the place where public purse power can put the bulk of students into political hands as tax-supported universities gain momentum that voluntary schools cannot match.

Shaw's Last Joke

By John Harriman

Boston Globe writer John Harriman, making a tour of Europe, recently visited the English country cottage where George Bernard Shaw lived, worked and died.

AYOT ST. LAWRENCE, ENGLAND.

When George Bernard Shaw died he left a will that foxed the English for six years and bequeathed a two million dollar fortune (swelled by "My Fair Lady" royalties) to promote a cockeyed "common-sense alphabet."

Last month this part of the will was broken in Britain's high court and the money will now be divided by the British Museum, the National Gallery of Ireland and the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art.

But Shaw's sardonic humor did not stop with the alphabet. He also left his home in this tiny English village to what is called the National Trust.

This is an organization to which dukes and earls either leave or deed their estates, thereby saving taxes for themselves and allowing their places to be opened to the public and preserved as sites of historic interest.

Shaw left no money along with the house, assuming apparently that his admirers would flock there, paying enough in admissions to keep it up. But this did not occur and the National Trust, too, for some years had its Shavian worries.

LAST JULY, however, the trust finally found a way out: It got itself a tenant.

The man who now sleeps where the great playwright once slept and works in the very room where such plays as St. Joan and Major Barbara were composed, is a young Englishman named Christopher Casserly. He has a wife and two sons, 4 and 5 years old and is in the public relations business in London.

Casserly has quite a bargain, too: A few acres of grounds, a sturdy, Victorian house with six bedrooms, all for a rental of $490 a year, plus $257.60 in taxes.

Part of Casserly's deal for the house is that he show visitors at least the hall and study.

HE IS A VERY amusing, dour man, steeped in Shavian lore himself, and fascinated at the idea that he, an arch conservative himself, should be occupying the premises of one of the world's most prominent socialists.

"A political socialist, Shaw, you know," he explained, "but economically as conservative as myself. Did himself very well here, don't forget, staff of about four, not counting his secretary."

Naturally one looks at the books: Three complete sets of Shaw's, one of bound copies of his proofs; "Das Kapital," Cambridge history, dictionaries and reference books and a complete set of Dickens.

There are two Bibles on Shaw's desk. One, very small, inscribed on a flyleaf already yellowing with age, "My Traveling Bible."

EVERYTHING, of course, had been left unchanged: The desk, the scales to weigh outgoing mail, the little typewriter on which Miss Blanche Patch, his secretary, had typed the manuscripts that Shaw wrote in his own kind of shorthand.

There are pictures of a few friends, Sydney and Beatrice Webb, for instance, and one of Gene Tunney. And that is all.

It gives one a strange feeling to realize that this room for 46 years sheltered one whose impact on his generatio has been as great, probably, as any writer.

There is less of Shaw here than in a theater playing St. Joan, or Caesar and Cleopatra, much less.

Man Speeds Nature's Work

By JOHN F. SEMBOWER

CHICAGO

A new soil builder which compresses into a short time the centuries - long process of nature to build a few inches of precious topsoil has been developed by Armour Research Foundation Scientists at the Illinois Institute of Technology.

The discovery involves a method to convert the bark of trees into an inexpensive and unusually effective soil builder and it is believed to be extremely significant in view of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's estimates that 29 million acres in the great plains now are subject to drought conditions which may permit extensive dust storm damage and that since last fall, two million acres in the area already have been badly damaged by winds.

Since it takes nature, under the most favorable conditions, including a good cover of trees, grass or other protective vegetation, anywhere from 300 to 1,000 years or more to build a single inch of topsoil, the loss of the film of fertile earth that supports crop growth has been viewed by many experts as an irreparable damage which in time may create new deserts.

IN TESTS conducted with greenhouse plants and field crops, the product has been found to be more effective in promoting growth and improving the soil than either peat moss or commercial soil conditioners.

Dr. C. Roland McCully, scientific adviser in the foundation's chemistry and chemical engineering research department, turns clay and sand into rich loamy soil in which plants grow at a surprisingly rapid rate.

Each year tens of millions of tons of bark are made available by lumbering firms, pulp and paper companies, Dr. McCully points out and while some of this material is partially dried and used as a fuel, most of it is disposed of, often at considerable cost.

If soil conservation methods curb the dust bowl conditions now developing, it may not be too late to employ large-scale soil restorative measures that will enable man to capsulize into months and years what it might require nature unaided to do in centuries, if at all

Stressing that a soil builder is not in any sense a mere fertilizer, Dr. McCully states that complicated research is required to solve the problem of providing "a mechanism available in the soil for the storage of plant nutrients."

The bark soil builder has been tested in the field by the University of British Columbia with barley and beets and the results are described as excellent, confirming earlier indoor tests made here at the foundation greenhouse laboratories.

A SOIL BUILDER, states Dr. McCully, must loosen the soil and improve its moisture - holding capacity; serve as a base for fertilizer and control the rate at which the plants obtain their food from the soil.

It is the latter characteristic of the bark soil builder that makes it most valuable, he maintains, since fertility of soil is dependent upon a proper supply of nutrients always being available to the plants.

The production of the soil builder involves grinding of the bark and the condensation of the tannin by the addition of formaldehyde, followed by acidification with hydrochloric or sulphuric acid.

The mixture then is heated for a brief period to complete the condensation process. Water and other excess chemicals are removed and the material is washed and dried. The average lifetime of the soil builder in the soil is about five years.

To treat 100 square feet of soil 6 inches deep with peat moss, now used quite widely as a soil builder, costs about $4 60, and the bark builder will cost much less.

Federal School Aid Unnecessary

By Raymond Moley

OKLAHOMA CITY

As I have traveled from state to state on this trip, it becomes more and more evident that the demand for school aid comes from the National Education Association and its local members, various state teachers' and superintendents' associations, from the A.D.A. and from labor union groups.

It is becoming more and more evident also that there is no real need for school building that cannot be supplied by the states and local communities. A few days ago figures I gathered in Louisiana show that no need for federal aid exists there, although in the President's plan that state is among the "poor" commonwealths of the nation.

Oklahoma is another of the allegedly poor, and the need there is just as fictional.

Under the administration's strange system of allocation, which we are to believe follows the principle "each according to need," the federal handout for the first year for Oklahoma would be $5,998,000, which the state would "match" with $3,496,000.

THIS WOULD PROVIDE for that year a federal gift of $11.38 per pupil.

Among the many state taxpayers' association the Oklahoma Public Expenditures Council is outstanding in the volume and accuracy of its research and in its effective way of combatting the spending mania that is sweeping the country.

The executive vice president of that association is Steve Stahl, whose standing among the professional workers in the field is shown by the fact that he is chairman of the National Conference of Taxpayer Association Executives. I find him to be highly regarded here in the state.

Recently Mr. Stahl presented the figures for his state before a committee of the House of Representatives in Washington.

He made the startling charge that apparently the figures upon which the U.S. Office of Education is depending and which, no doubt, the President accepted uncritically, must be gathered from school superintendents, who are clamoring for federal aid.

But the figure for Oklahoma presented by the U.S. Office of Education, Mr. Stahl indicated, was based upon incorrect "projections and estimates."

IT INDICATED that there were 10,000 pupils in the state "in excess of normal capacity of the accessible publicly owned school plants in use".

Mr. Stahl stated further that no one in the Oklahoma State Department of Education was willing to take responsibility for such an estimate. And the state superintendent in reply to Mr. Stahl's question about the basis of the estimate said he did not know.

The report of the U.S. Office of Education stated that Oklahoma needs 500 new classrooms, which may be true. But the state and local communities have the money for and are planning to build 1,200.

This answers the first of the President's charges, that there is a need which the states are unwilling or unable to supply.

His second charge is that the rate of construction has been lagging for years. This is refuted by the facts so far as Oklahoma is concerned.

SCHOOL REVENUES in Oklahoma have increased 57 per cent between 1951 and 1956. School bond issues in 1951 amounted to $6,400,000. In 1956 they were $27,200,000.

The voters of the state are approving bonds for school building at a very rapid rate. More than 3 million dollars, were voted in the first six weeks of this year. Also, teachers' salaries have increased substantially.

Oklahoma this year is sending 700 million dollars to the federal treasury in Washington.

This proves two things. First, that it is a state able to pay for its own schools, and second, that if federal taxes were lowered by less spending, it could spend much more on its own schools.

Revision Before Reduction

By DAVID BARNETT

WASHINGTON

American taxpayers are likely to get much more talk about tax revision before they profit from over-all tax reduction.

Faced with growing piles of letters from constituents demanding less government spending and more income tax cuts, congressmen on both sides of the political fence are promoting study and revision of the hodgepodge collection of tax law.

On the Republican side, Sen. Alexander Wiley (R., Wis.), a strong supporter of President Eisenhower, is pumping for a comprehensive study of taxes by a Hoover-type federal tax commission. The senator insists his bill establishing such a commission is not just a "token" measure.

On the Democratic side, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills (D., Ark.) the ranking Democrat on the tax-writing Ways and Means committee, hints that the party will work for substantive reform of the tax code before trying for an over-all reduction.

Neither Sen. Wiley nor Rep. Mills expects any basic action by Congress this year.

Both parties are united on the theory that across-the-boards tax relief now would be inflationary and thus can't be done.

Sen. Wiley says that since reduction must be delayed, the country should "use the precious time to study on a comprehensive basis" the tax laws.

The tax code was revised in 1954. Sen. Wiley contends that revision made some "constructive changes" but left the basic pattern of taxation "lopsided."

As one example, the Wisconsin senator cites the "harsh impact" of taxation on working mothers.

Take the case of a husband making $4,000 a year with a wife earning $3,600 a year. "The actual net income which is added as a result of the wife's work may prove to be only approximately $1,400," he said.

He points out that there are 20,000,000 working women and that more than a half of them are married.

Rep. Mills contends the 1954 revision, in many respects, did not meet the object of simplification, greater equity and closer conformity with the economic facts of life. He recently told the tax executives institute that the law also "opened up new, unsuspected avenues of tax avoidance."

The Wiley bill would establish a 12-man commission made up of six private citizens, two members of the executive branch of the government, two senators and two members of the House. The bill has 14 cosponsors.

The senator has on file letters of support for the proposal from such business leaders as H. H. Curtice, president of the General Motors Corp.; Henry Ford, president of Ford Motor Co.; Arthur B. Goetze, president of Western Electric Co., Inc.; David Sarnoff, chairman of the board, Radio Corporation of America; Roger M. Blough, chairman, United States Steel Corp.; Augustus C. Long, chairman, The Texas Co., and I. F. Long, president, The Cudahy Packing Co.

On the Other Side

By TRUMAN TWILL

Having made a statement of things urbanites should know about the country when they begin their springtime hunt for an ideal spot to become denizens of Rosy Fingered Dawn, this column today makes a statement of the other side of the case.

Urbanites should know that snow stays clean in the country for weeks at a time during winter and should be aware of the inner satisfaction of looking at snow-covered fields and wood lots festooned in pure white on winter mornings.

They should understand about the free flight of birds in space and why a heart beats faster when a cotton - tail outruns a posse of hopelessly - outmatched dogs, because a rabbit knows where it is going and the dogs know only where it has been. An age-old margin of security for the pursued.

They will be missing something if they undervalue the beauty of wild asters in pasture lots in autumn and anenomes blooming in April in the leafy litter of the woods.

They should be aware of the delight of a stroll under the stars in June, with no streets to cross and no man - made interruptions of their communion with the firmament.

They should not disregard what happens to a countryman on Sunday morning when church bells call the faithful to a house of worship on a distant hillside.

If they never have seen a meadow illumined with fireflies on a night in August, they will not want to miss that either.

Nor will they want to deprive themselves of the fragrance of a patch of May apples on a dewy morning in June.

If they value the companionship of dogs, they will want to see their favorites on an uninhibited romp along a creek bank, or in a grass-carpeted meadow.

They will enjoy the acrid perfume of wood smoke from a fire to windward where a good housekeeper has been burning brush piles.

They will want to be on hand to see the gang plows turn glistening furrows for spring oats and winter wheat.

There is something to be enjoyed in the sight of dairy cows ruminating in the shade of a pasture to escape the heat of the day and the morning call of roosters.

No urbanite who is ready for a change of scenery should underestimate the tranquilizing effect of a journey home past pungent hay fields and rustling corn fields.

No man and no woman who has grown ear-weary from the clatter of tongues and the endless bassles of a world in perpetual disagreement can conscientiously ignore the opportunity to profit from the peacefulness of sky, land, wind and water in the absence of man-created frictions and hazards.

What are you waiting for, slickers?

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Another Loss of Face

In these days of baseball spring training, Olympic contestant romances, basketball and hockey finals, etc., Sandra Sibley, of Olney, England, and Mary Collingwood of Liberal, Kan., have been pretty well overlooked, but their feats, unique and extraordinary, rate attention.

Sandra, an 18-year-old girl, nosed out Mary Collingwood, a 24-year-old housewife in the annual International Pancake Flipping Derby the other day. This can do America no good.

Sandra flipped her griddle cakes three times in a 415-yard dash in one minute eight seconds, Mary breathing down her back eight seconds behind, so to speak. Americans had won four of the last five Intercontinental Flapjack Flipping Derbies. The 1957 defeat raises these questions:

1—Are we falling behind in the world of pancake tossing on the gallop?

2—Is Washington neglecting the nation's pancake-turning defenses?

3—Is it not urgent that the government's policy on griddle-cake handling be revised?

THE HAND THAT FLIPS the pancake, as some philosopher once said, rules the world. American housewives have almost always led in flipping in full flight.

There has never been a time when we would not have bet on them to show championship quality with griddlecakes at a trot, cantor or even over the hurdles.

-:-

WE HAVE SEEN American mothers of big families handle griddlecakes with dazzling speed and precision in sprints and over a distance, with a dozen hungry kids crying, "faster!" Our Aunt Millie, a southpaw pancake flipper, could start from an iron stove in big basement kitchen, and get six dozen cakes over the plate with speed and precision, without loss of control. She flipped without a windup and her best one was a "knuckler" which seemed to be going to Uncle Phineas but wound up on the plate of Little Egbert, aged six.

AUNT MILLIE was the baseball rather than track event type, but she could do 400 yards in one minute flat with a sunnyside-up egg, flipping it as she ran, without busting a yolk.

In her younger days she beat all comers in an event labeled "Carrying on the head an eight-ounce jelly in a round-bottom saucer over a four-foot fence." And they say she once won a championship covering a quarter mile over a wet track carrying four quarts of clam chowder in two paper bags, one held in each hand as she ran.

SANDRA SIBLEY, the new British pancake flipping champ, may well take warning. Aunt Millie is only 73 years old now and still going strong. America will not take this pancake flipping defeat lying down. (There is a report that the American contestant's pancake flipper was tampered with and that somebody put pig-iron in the pancake batter, slowing her down.

News of Other Years

40 YEARS AGO — Daily newspapers across the country anticipating a shortage of paper in the event of a general railroad strike, began with their Sunday editions to make radical cuts in size. At St. Louis the Post Dispatch was trimmed to one-third its size. Many papers began eliminating practically all features.

Lord George Wellesley, fourth son of the Duke of Wellington, married his brother's widow in New York City. The couple planned to make their home in this country. The bride was Lady Nesti Parmela Wellesley, widow of Lord Wellesley's older brother who was killed in action at the front in France. British law did not permit the marriage of a brother-in-law and sister-in-law so the couple came to New York to be united.

20 YEARS AGO — Trapped in upstairs rooms by a fire that gained headway while they slept, six Marion residents made a perilous escape through second floor windows early in the morning at 247 Elm St. Those who escaped from smoke-filled rooms were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mason, their three children and Ralph Miley, a brother of Mrs. Mason. Trapped from doorway exits by the fire raging on the first floor, Miley climbed out a window onto a roof and worked his way to the ground. The children were handed down a ladder to him and everyone was out of the house safely upon arrival of the fire department. The origin of the fire was unknown.

Two Marion youths escaped from a deputy of Juvenile Judge Oscar Gast a few minutes after they had been sentenced to terms in the Boys' Industrial School at Lancaster. Both boys, who had stolen groceries from the McAfee Grocery, had committed several previous thefts.

10 YEARS AGO — Three more county schools closed as a wave of influenza and colds continued to spread. Prospect, Pleasant and Grand Prairie classes were dismissed as absences increased. St. Mary School was the only building in the city remaining open as public schools had closed for the week due to illnesses.

Red Cross fund drive leaders and workers claimed Cleveland was the first city with a population of over one million to achieve its 1947 fund goal. Returns were estimated at $981,000 against a goal of $974,000.

William C. Durant, 85, organizer of General Motors, who twice held and twice lost control of the enterprise, died at his home in New York City after an illness of five years.

Cadillac

Speaks A Language All Its Own!

Take a good look at this gentleman as he strides out into the early morning to his waiting car.

In all probability you feel—as we do—that you know a goodly number of things about him.

First of all, we would be willing to venture that he is a man who holds to high standards of achievement.

We would guess that he is held in high personal esteem by his friends and associates.

And we would also suppose that he is a practical man who is keenly aware of the basic value and worth of the things around him.

The reason for all this is not far to seek.

For the motor car that awaits him at the curbside bears the beautiful crest of Cadillac. And here, beyond all conjecture, is the most eloquent spokesman in the entire realm of possessions.

In fact, the Cadillac car has, over the years, been so closely associated with the leading citizenry of our land that the two have become all but inseparable in the public mind.

And just as these motorists have placed their trust in Cadillac, so Cadillac has given them everything they could hope for in an automobile.

Cadillac has given them unduplicated beauty and luxury . . . unsurpassed performance and comfort . . . and extraordinary quality and value.

* * *

Have you driven a 1957 Cadillac? If not, we urge you to come in and let the car tell you its own thrilling story on the highway.

We think you will agree that this year, more than ever, Cadillac speaks a language all its own!

Routine jobs are best for these children to give them more security on entering the future adult world, he said. Group discussion followed.

Red Cross Chapter Prepares for 'Open House'

THESE VIEWS OF THE NEW Red Cross home in action show the many activities in progress, including a few touch-up jobs in preparation for an "open house" this weekend.

CENTER: Ready to wield the hammer in fastening a curtain rod for a window in the basement kitchen of the house is Mrs. L. G. Jones, a volunteer staff aid worker for the local chapter.

LOWER RIGHT: Reviewing a session in home care of the sick are these students who were recent graduates of the first such course offered in the new home. They are (left to right): Mrs. James Lee, Mrs. George Darling, Mrs. Stella Ruehrmund, Miss Katherine Ruehrmund, Mrs. John Robson, the patient sitting up in bed; Mrs. Harlin Rapp and Mrs. Lowell Schwaderer.

ple closet room to house mobile equipment which is used in these demonstrations.

The headquarters for the 195 volunteer workers such as Gray Ladies, staff aids and nurses who serve the local chapter is an upstairs room at the front of the house. Here uniforms and other supplies are kept in a spacious closet.

One of the most used locations in the house is the Junior Red Cross room, also on the second floor. Boxes filled by students in city and county schools, to be sent to all corners of the world for needy children, are prepared for mailing here.

The room is used for meetings of teachers and other sponsors of the Junior Red Cross movement also, as well as for work sessions.

A kitchen which can be used by any of the classes and which also is available for any disaster or emergency, is found on the second floor, too.

Even the attic is being utilized. Volunteer workers have cleaned it and placed storage materials away from the major area so that it will be available for emergency housing in case of any disaster.

—:—

MISS PLACK noted that the chapter hopes to have its own two-way radio setup in the near future. This would be installed in the attic, again for emergency use.

The area of the house which sees the largest volume of traffic on blood donor days, such as Wednesday of this week, is the basement. Miss Plack estimated that more than 150 persons used the basement facilities on Wednesday alone.

Here blood receiving equipment is set up. The equipment is furnished by the bloodmobile unit which comes from the Columbus Red Cross headquarters.

Moving the supplies into the basement could pose a problem were it not for the elevator located at the back of the house next to the parking area. Blood center equipment is carried up and down the elevator with a big savings of time.

When the large room in the basement is not being used as a blood center, it makes an ideal meeting room for large groups such as Junior Red Cross delegations.

A small room adjoining the larger one is used as a canteen and receiving room during bloodmobile visits. Here blood donors are treated to a snack prepared in the small basement kitchen.

Unlike many chapters, the local group, since it was founded 40 years ago, has been crowded into small quarters. Its first home in 1917 was the basement of the public library.

During the 1920's the chapter moved to the old YMCA building where it maintained headquarters until 1943. Then it located in the Woolworth Building where it remained until late October when the purchase of the Axe Funeral Home made it possible to move headquarters to that site.

Program Opens Thursday

New Mt. Vernon Ave. Offices Will Be Shown

By JUNE ROSEBERRY

Excitement is in the air at the new Red Cross chapter home on Mount Vernon Ave. where each day volunteer workers can be seen wielding the paint and scrub brush in preparing the new headquarters for a three-day open house March 22-24.

These workers and the 1,500 other community residents who already have used the home since it opened Oct. 28 are justly proud of its 14 rooms which already have proved their use.

The "claustrophobia" which one experienced in the former four-room downtown quarters, the necessity of lugging class equipment from one meeting place to another, the rental of rooms for meetings — all these things, to the relief of volunteer and staff workers, have become problems of the past.

—:—

THE LOCAL chapter, for the first time in its 40-year history, is stretching its legs.

Although much of the furniture from the old location has been retained, local friends have contributed many new pieces which can be seen scattered throughout the house.

The local chapter did not find it necessary to buy furniture or make changes in the layout of the house. In the words of Miss Lillian Plack, executive secretary: "We stepped right in the house and were able to give service immediately."

Each day, new opportunities for community service are being realized at the home.

Already a 15-hour course in home care of the sick has been completed and first aid sessions now are being held there, as well as Junior Red Cross meetings.

—:—

THE HOUSE can be best described by an imaginary tour through its rooms.

Entering the front door facing on Mt. Vernon Ave., one sees the waiting room used not only for persons waiting for home service aid and other interviews but for processing of blood donors on days when the bloodmobile is in Marion.

At the right is the general office housing two secretaries. On the other side of the waiting room is found the assembly room where group meetings seating as many as 60 persons can be held.

Miss Plack's private office, conveniently set off by French doors, is at the back of the house. Next to this is a supply room containing built in cabinets made by the voluntary efforts of one of the members of the board of directors.

In still another room on the first floor one finds the office of the home secretary where verifications for emergency leaves and extension are handled, among other veterans' affairs.

CLIMBING THE stairs to the second floor, a reception room opening onto the classrooms and those used by volunteer workers is found.

Fully equipped with two beds, a dresser and a complete line of sickroom supplies, the room for home care of the sick already has seen the graduation of one group and another program will begin soon.

The classroom for first aid and water safety provides sufficient space for demonstrations and am-

This one's had them rubbing their eyes ever since it landed smack in the middle of the "low-price" field! The handsome rebel you see right here is upsetting tradition right and left on what a modest budget should buy. It's pricing a big 122-inch wheelbase right down with cars from four to seven inches shorter! It's adding a big bonus of extra road-hugging heft—and powering it with an all-new 347 cu. in., 10 to 1 compression ratio Strato-Streak V-8 for highest horsepower per pound in the field! A lot of might and muscle for sure—but it's gentled like nothing else on the road by Pontiac's exclusive Level-Line Ride and Precision-Touch Controls. And remember—the Chieftain's standards of luxury and quality were set by the same men who gave America the incomparable Custom Star Chief Catalinas. What we're leading up to is this: If smaller cars have gotten you down, you can actually buy a Chieftain Pontiac for less than 30 models of the "low-price three"! Dublin's Lord Mayor Hailed By Bostonians

BOSTON (AP) — Boston literally rolled out a green welcome mat today for Robert T. Briscoe, the Jewish lord mayor of Dublin and participant in the city's double-barreled celebration of St. Patrick's Day and Evacuation Day.

The observance marked the 181st anniversary of the expulsion from Boston of the British troops in the Revolutionary War and, coincidentally, the feast of Ireland's patron saint, both of which fall on the 17th. However, because Mayor Briscoe had to be in New York Sunday, Boston celebrated today.

The lord mayor stepped jauntily off a special railroad car onto a plush 30-foot emerald green carpet as Irish bagpipes played and a crowd cheered.

The lord mayor quickly charmed his audience by his warm friendliness and rich brogue.

Archbishop Richard J. Cushing welcomed Briscoe "as a great Irishman, a great Jew, a loyal son of Erin and a proud and loyal son of the House of David."

Mayor Briscoe agreed to march the entire route of the colorful St. Patrick's Day parade through South Boston.

Tax Office Braces For Job of Sending Back Tax Refunds

The Columbus Internal Revenue District office is gearing itself for a major effort in the processing of tax refund checks, Director Nathaniel Looker said today.

"We expect to receive and process approximately 325,000 of them by May 31. This means we must average over 20,000 a week in order to meet that deadline," he said.

Mr. Looker urged that taxpayers refrain from writing letters or making telephone calls at this time in an effort to determine the status of their refunds. "All available regular and a limited number of temporary employes are being used in this project. The goal we have set is difficult of accomplishment — it will be doubly so if folks burden us with extra letters or calls," he said.

"Because of the volume and the several operations involved, it is virtually impossible to locate a particular return at a given time, if it is in process. An arithmetic verification and inspection for completeness must be made. An audit of certain returns is required. Card Forms 1040-A must be verified and the tax computed. Estimated tax credits must be matched with the returns. All these steps plus many others have to be taken before a refund may be scheduled to the Disbursement Office in Cleveland for payment. The length of time taken by the latter is, of necessity, unpredictable at the peak-load period," he declared.

Trial Date Set

Common Pleas Court Judge Paul D. Smith has set Thursday, March 28, at 9 a.m. as the date for the jury trial in the case of the state vs. William B. Schroll, 46, of 141½ N. Main St.

Schroll was indicted by the January term of the Marion County grand jury on charges of breaking and entering and larceny.

Weather Report

Forecast for Central Ohio—Showers and scattered thunderstorms tonight. Tuesday cloudy and cooler with rain ending in forenoon. Low tonight 46. High Tuesday 53.

OHIO FIVE DAY FORECAST

II-R (deferred for civilian occupation essental to the maintenance of the national health, safety or interest), or III-R (deferred by reason of extreme hardship and privation to dependents).

In time of war or national emergency declared by Congress, this will give the Standby Reservist a clearer picture of his position as regards his or her recall to active duty.

The Standby Reservist has the right of appeal if he is not convinced that his category is correct, but continues to have the responsibility to keep his local board informed of any change of address or status.

The program will provide a service not only to the Standby Reservist who will know his emergency recall status, but the armed services, which will likewise know the availability of their Standby Reserve pools.

Bucyrus Youth Killed as Limb Falls on Head

BUCYRUS—A Bucyrus youth, Ronald J. Radler, 18, was killed instantly at 5:30 p.m. Saturday at Salem when a tree limb fell on him and crushed his skull.

The youth had gone to Salem to visit his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Radler. The family said the youth had just pulled up in front of the house in his car when some neighbors were working on the tree limb.

Radler went to help the three men working on the limb who were pulling on a rope trying to pull down the limb. Somehow the boy became entangled in the rope and the limb crashed onto his skull and killed him.

The youth was a freshman at Ohio State University and was home on spring vacation. He was graduated from Bucyrus High School in June, 1956.

He was born Aug. 12, 1938 in Salem to John F. and Dorothy Bott Radler. His father is comptroller at the Shunk Manufacturing Co. in Bucyrus.

The Radler family had resided in Bucyrus for the last seven years. The youth was a member of St. Paul Lutheran Church.

Services will be held at the church at 2 p.m. Tuesday with Rev. M. P. Paetznick officiating. Burial will be in Oakwood Cemetery. Friends may call tonight at the Wise Funeral Home in Bucyrus.

Ocean Cruise Helpful, Ike's Coughing Less

EN ROUTE WITH EISENHOWER (AP) — President Eisenhower gets a look today at a scheduled Navy attempt to shoot down an old radio-controlled warplane with Terrier guided missiles.

Plans for firing a pair of the surface - to - air missiles from aboard the heavy cruiser Canberra were made on a weather-permitting basis.

Eisenhower seemed to be making good progress toward ridding himself of a stubborn cough and head cold on this sea voyage.

The sun - tanned President looked rested and well in telling newsmen on the Canberra deck Sunday that he was feeling "very good."

"I must say," he chuckled, "my old bald head is getting sort of tanned."

Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, White House physician, said Eisenhower's ear inflammation has cleared up and that he was coughing "very little" since putting to sea last Thursday evening on a leisurely six-day cruise to Bermuda.

Eisenhower is due in Bermuda Wednesday afternoon to start four days of talks with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

But, Beck said in reply to a question, "I am not going to turn my back on any man . . . until he has his day in court . . ."

The rackets committee has given Beck until midday next Wednesday to decide whether he will comply voluntarily with its demand that he furnish his personal financial records for the 1949-1955 period.

There have been allegations that union funds were used to pay some of Beck's personal expenses.

Asked Sunday night whether the union paid some $25,000 or $30,000 to remodel his home in Seattle, Beck replied: "They most certainly did not. . . . It most definitely was out of my own pocket."

National Gambling

By Victor Riesel

CHICAGO

There was nothing penny ante about the fascination and dedication of the boys from Portland to pinball games and the almighty one - armed bandits — the slot machines.

VICTOR RIESEL

If you look carefully, you'll note in the transcript of the Senate racket busting committee hearings testimony showing that the lads were merely planning to use Portland as the base for operations that would tie in with others across country.

Where once the horizons were westward, these gents looked east and drooled over a field which gives a jingling yield of more than 3 billion dollars a year.

One authority for some of these gay statistics is right here in Chicago.

True, this figure is based on an eight-year-old study of national gambling. But that merely means that the "take" has grown tremendously — and the Portland adventurers were planning to move into a lusher field than anyone thought existed.

-:-

MUCH OF THIS DATA is the result of research by the Chicago Crime Commission and its director, Virgil Peterson.

A report based in part on his digging said recently that, "estimates in recent years of the amounts played in the slot machine racket ranged from 2 to 3 billion dollars. . ."Furthermore, says the report:

"Personal expenditures on non-vending coin machines (including gambling machines, slot machines, pinballs, etc.) as reported to tax authorities show an increase from 8 million dollars in 1929 to 154 million in 1948."

This means that there is a gigantic unlicensed shadowland machine gambling area. Even in 1949, it was estimated by experts that the "take" was well over 2 billion dollars a year.

It's higher now, of course. Only the "legitimate" machines in states like Nevada are reported for tax purposes, but hundreds of thousands of "unreported" machines operate day in and day out across the country.

The boys from Portland were also mighty courageous. They tried to move in on another well - protected field —off-track gambling. At one point, the Senate transcript shows, the men involved wanted to use the teamster newspaper there to get a ticker service which would give them race results for a "horse book."

THE UNION SHEET was and is, entitled to the same wire service rights as a commercial paper. When the regular editor of the Teamo's paper appeared to balk, they had him removed and sneered at him as a "do-gooder."

They had another gimmick — punch boards. This was to bring them $100,000 a year in Portland alone. Across country, it runs into millions and the boys had their eyes on some of this take, too.

So it comes as no surprise to the experts here or to the Senate committee itself, that public officials were involved and that charges of bribing highly placed elected men are flying as swiftly as a handful of coins in the maw of a one-armed bandit.

The same report states:

"The best ways of paying graft to law enforcement officers were: 1 - payment of a periodic flat sum, 2 - cutting in public officers for a percentage of the operation, 3 - heavy campaign contributions both before and after elections.

"A crime study in a western state estimates that 400 million dollars is spent annually. . .for bribery and the corruption of public officers."

THESE FIGURES sound fantastic. But they are based partly on the Chicago Crime Committee's findings and can be found in a report issued by the Citizen's Committee of Massachusetts, Inc.

The whole subject of gambling will have to be someone else's project. The point here is that the Portland exposure shows that some unions were used to try to muscle in on this vast field.

Even this wouldn't trouble many a labor leader whose feeling is that men are going to gamble and it's up to the citizenry or the police to decide what to do about it — or whether to do anything.

What disturbs the majority of the labor men you talk to as you sample sentiment "on the road" is the fact that the public will begin distrusting all of labor's political efforts.

This could cost labor much of its political influence. Certainly labor politics will be hard hit in the northwest despite the fact that neither Sen. Wayne Morse, nor Sen. Dick Neuberger knew anything of these shenanigans.

That Portland story is just beginning.

Prisoner Seeking Release, Files for Writ From Court

A petition for release on a writ of habeas corpus was filed this morning in Common Pleas Court by Henry Boyden Williams, an inmate of the Marion Correctional Institution. A hearing on the petition has been set for 11 a.m. March 27, with a representative from the state attorney general's office sitting in as counsel for the defendant, Lamoyne Green, superintendent of the local institution.

Williams, in his petition, alleges that on Jan. 25, 1956, he was convicted in Franklin County's Common Pleas Court on charges of housebreaking and larceny. He was sentenced to serve two terms in the Ohio Penitentiary, one of one-to-five years and the other one-to-seven years, with the sentences to run concurrently.

The petitioner alleges that since he was convicted in one trial under one indictment, the court had no jurisdiction to separate the charges for the purpose of sentencing to confinement. He maintains that because of this alleged separation of charges, he is being made to serve a two-year minimum term on an illegal sentence and thus petitions for his release from the custody of Mr. Green.

The petitioner was transferred from Columbus to Marion May 17, 1956, and will be eligible for a hearing for parole in September.

Sid Caesar, Show Take 5 Awards

Ad Men Lose to Artists In Battle of TV 'Emmies'

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — If you watched the TV Emmy show Saturday night, it may surprise you to hear that you watched a revolution—of the artists against the ad men

For Madison Avenue wanted Caesar buried, not praised

The hard-sell boys from the ad agencies admit that Sid, the comic Caesar, is a very funny man But his production costs come high That, trade sources disclose, is why he has had a little sponsor trouble recently

One of Two Top Winners

But the television academy—the one TV group where artists out number salesmen — awarded Sid and his show five Emmies He was one of two sweepstakes winners The other was Playhouse 90 another expensive exponent of high quality TV

Absent even among the nominees, were the quiz shows, which cost little and are the sponsor's delight He likes them because he can hang his billboard behind each contestant and comercials come faster than plateaus

Caesar won an Emmy for best comedian his show for the best hour series, and Carl Reiner and Pat Carroll of his cast as best supporting players

Voted Best Comedienne

And then, as a crushing crease in the Ivy League suits the academy voted Nanette Fabray best comedienne for her work with Caesar

She hasn't been Casesar's wife since last season

Playhouse 90 earned Jack Palance an Emmy for best single performance He was the punchy fighter of "Requiem for a Heavyweight"

Other Emmies went to a trio of movie pros—Claire Trevor (Dodsworth), best single performance by an actress, Loretta Young (Loretta Young Show), best actress in a series and Robert Young (Father Knows Best), best actor in a series

Shore and Como Cited

Two of television's most relaxed performers — Dinah Shore and Perry Como — were named the medium s most outstanding personalities

Edward R Murrow added three more Emmies to his collection He won for best public service series, best coverage of a newsworthy event and best news commentator

For the first time in recent television memory no new comedians scored What Caesar didn't win in comedy Phil Silvers did

Net Earnings Down

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Net sales of the Mansfield Tire & Rubber Co amounted to $61 557,595 and earnings totaled $1,376 683 last year, James H Hoffman, president, said today in the annual report to stockholders

Hoffman said earnings were equivalent to $2 23 a share of common stock, off from the $3 a share during the company's record sales year of 1955

Hoffman announced a first quarter dividend of 30 cents a share on common stock, payable April 20 to stockholders of record April 10.

Middies Duel Toledo, Latin Fights Kent in Opener

State's Leading Offenses Will Test Tight Defenses

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state's most potent offenses run headlong into the realm's snuggest defenses Friday in the semi-finals of Ohio's Class AA High School Basketball Title Tourney.

All of which gives the Buckeye boys a chance to solve the age-old question of what happens when an irresistible force strikes an immovable object.

In pairings made Sunday for the Friday-Saturday roundball classic at St. John Arena, defending champion Middletown drew Toledo Macomber as its foe, and Cleveland Cathedral Latin was matched with Kent Roosevelt.

Class A Pairings

The Class A bracket has Ayersville (27-1) meeting Midvale (21-9) at 1:30 p.m. Friday, and Gratis (26-1) going against Bethel (27-1) at 3 p.m. The Class AA games are at 7:30 and 9 p.m.

Indications were that a healthy offense pays off a wee bit more than a tight defense. Cathedral Latin, with an 88.6-point average, has won 23 in a row, and Middletown, with 86.8, has added 25 straight to the 25 it used up a year ago in taking the title. The 50 straight is four over the previous long-run record.

Macomber, Middletown's foe, has won 22 of 23 with the state's best defensive mark. The Toledoans have allowed only 956 points for a 41.5 average, eight of its foes having been held in the 30's and 11 in the 40's. Only four opponents have reached 50 points, Toledo Waite holding the high spot with two futile 53-point sprees.

On the other hand Macomber has averaged only 58.6 on offense, by far the lowest of the finalists. Middletown has zoomed over the century mark in three games, over 90 in five, and over 80 in 13. Only Hamilton, with 48, has been able to hold the Middies under 66.

Tops 100 Seven Times

Kent Roosevelt, beaten twice in 24 starts, has held the opposition to a 44.5 average. The scores were divided equally, eight in the 30 bracket, and the same in the 40 and 50 divisions. The high was 59 by Cuyahoga Falls in an opening win over Roosevelt, and the low was 31 garnered by Kent State.

Against that defense Cathedral Latin will toss an offense which has gone over the 100 mark seven times and which hasn't been held under 69.

Bethel, the little 16-boy school from the Monroe County hills which is being tagged as the new "Waterloo Wonder" outfit, has the top offense in Class AA with an 88.3 average. Bethel's 52.9 defensive average is right behind Ayersville's 51.8.

Bethel, located in Marr (population 40), has piled up more than 100 points in eight games, and hasn't been held under 66. Gratis, with a single 103-point splurge, is the only other Class A team to break the century barrier.

All eight teams will move in Thursday for their first look at the new Ohio State arena, each spending a one-hour practice session to get the "feel" of the 13,300-seat theater.

Middletown practices from 11 a.m. to noon, Bethel from noon to 1 p.m., Gratis from 1 to 2, Midvale from 2 to 3, Ayersville from 3 to 4, Toledo Macomber from 4 to 5, Kent Roosevelt from 5 to 6, and Cathedral Latin from 7 to 8. The 6 to 7 hour is open.

The Middies are after their seventh straight crown, a title none of the other seven has ever taken. Of the last fifteen Class AA championships 10 have gone to the Southwestern District, with the Middies winning in 1944, 1946, 1947, 1952, 1953 and 1956. The southwestern area also has copped four of the last five Class A crowns.

Male enrollment at the eight schools, survivors of the 349 Class AA and 696 Class A tournament starters, is:

Toledo Macomber 1,312, Cathedral Latin 1,120, Middletown 612, Kent Roosevelt 280, Midvale 114, Gratis 55, Ayersville 53, and Bethel 16.

Illness Hits Tribe Drill, Raines Idle

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Illness and injuries continued to plague the Cleveland Indians today.

First baseman Vic Wertz, who complained of severe headaches last week, was ordered to rest for a few days after a complete physical examination disclosed that he was suffering from a virus infection.

Larry Raines, the rookie shortstop, has a fractured great toe on his left foot, X-rays revealed Sunday, and trainer Wally Bock said he probably would be sidelined for three weeks.

Raines was hurt in Phoenix Friday when a foul tip from his own bat hit him on the foot during pregame batting practice. He later stubbed his toe on first base.

Catcher Earl Averill has complained of chest pains and difficulty in breathing and will be given electro-cardigram tests.

The extent of Raines' injury was learned as the Indians lost a 9-6 decision to the New York Giants, giving the Giants a 3-2 edge in the spring series between the two teams.

A pinch double by Gail Harris was the big blow of the game. Batting for Wes Westrum with the bases loaded, only one out and the score tied at 6-6 in the eighth inning, Harris hit a double to right field, bringing in two runs. Art Houtteman was on the mound for Cleveland at the time.

New York scored three runs on four hits off Early Wynn in the first inning, but the Indians tied the score with three in the second. A double in the third frame by Joe Altobelli, who got three of the Tribe's seven hits, brought in two runs to give the Indians a short-lived 5-3 lead. Back-to-back home runs by Andre Rodgers and Ossie Virgil tied the score for the Giants in the fourth.

The teams traded runs in the fifth, and the game remained in a 6-6 deadlock until Harris' double. The Giants' last run in the eighth scored from third when third baseman Bobby Avila muffed a grounder.

Local Badminton Squad Dethroned As 'Y' Champion

The Cleveland Cedar Branch YMCA walked off with the state YMCA badminton crown here Saturday night with Marion's defending champions coming in third.

The Cleveland team compiled a total of six points to clinch the crown while Toledo Central YMCA finished with five. Marion, third entry in a three-team fight, netted two points.

Only point winners for the local entry were Tom Clark, who nailed the Class A singles title, and Charles Kincaid, winner of the Class A singles action, Bud Mathiot, another Marion player, teamed up with a Cleveland visitor, to take the Class B doubles toga as an independent team.

Others taking part with the Marion team were Carl Knirk, George Wood, Rudy Metzger and John Nichols.

Colt Leaders To Meet

A meeting of Colt League managers and coaches will be held Tuesday night at the YMCA. The meeting is scheduled for 7:30. Chuck Reid, Colt League vice president, said the meeting was open to any person interested in the Colt League activities.

DOUBLE DUTY FOR PASTOR. The Rev. Robert W. Core, pastor of the Lockport, Il., First Methodist Church, "blows the whistle" on infractions from his pulpit (left), as well as on the basketball court, where he is sanctioned referee. A former high school and college athlete, the new Lockport minister has been a certified basketball referee in Missouri and Arkansas from 1939 to the current season. He hopes to become certified as a basketball referee in Illinois.

YMCA Will Offer Huge Spring Sports Program

The Marion YMCA will present a "Summer Preparation" course as a major part of their spring program this year. Every course offered will be designed to give added knowledge of sports skills.

Highlighting the new program will be swimming classes for men and women, lifesaving for adults, golf, bait casting, trampoline, slimnastics, along with father and son activities, date nights for high school youngsters, play periods for the family, and a new Ranger program for junior and senior high boys.

At the adult level there will be both land and water sports offered. Badminton will be offered, with George Wood, one of Ohio's outstanding badminton players, as the instructor. This course will be offered Monday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m. beginning March 25 and lasting six weeks. It is a coeducational course with a $5 fee for non-members and a $2 charge for members.

Bait casting will be another new course. This, too, will be coeducational, with classes to meet Monday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m. for six weeks. Fees will be $5 for non-members, $2 for members, the starting date to be announced.

Trampoline training will be under the directorship of Bob Slemmer. This class will meet Wednesday evenings beginning March 27 at 8 p.m. and will be open to both men and women age 16 or over for a period of six weeks. There will be no charge for members, but a $5 fee for non-members.

New Programs

Golf, one of Marion's most successful programs last year, will be offered to both men and women on Thursday evenings beginning March 28. Dean Ludwig will instruct the class in the basic fundamentals of the game and it will meet at 8 p.m. for a period of six weeks. It is for beginners only. There will be no charge for members and a $5 charge for non-members.

Slimnastics, under the leadership of Jim McBride, will get underway on the 27th of March at 8 p.m. and will consist of Gym and Swim for adult women only. The class consists of calisthenics directed at weight reduction along with free play in any sport or game. This activity will be open to members only.

The Ranger Program, another new course for junior and senior high boys, will begin Tuesday, March 26 at 7 p.m. This class will be modeled after a national program now under way directed at physical fitness and skills of judo, gymnastics, drill, and body building. The class will meet for six weeks and may continue if interest dictates.

Father and son free play in the pool will continue on a regular schedule Friday nights from 7 to 8 p.m. and on the floor from 7 to 9 p.m.

Family Night

A Family Night will be held on the gymnasium floor during the usual family swim period on Saturday evenings, beginning March 30. The group will be able to choose any type of activity.

Co-ed date night for dates only on Friday nights on the floor will start March 29. Hours at the gymnasium are 7 to 8 p.m. and in the pool from 8 to 9 p.m. Dance in the Club Co-ed will follow.

A new and comprehensive swimming program will get under way for both men and women. For women there will be a beginners' class on Wednesday nights from 7 to 8 p.m. Jim McBride will be the instructor and will teach fundamental strokes. The class will begin on March 27 and will last for a period of eight weeks.

The women's intermediate group will meet Monday nights from 7 to 8 p.m. and will be open to those who can swim in deep water. This class will begin on March 25 and will last for six weeks, covering advanced strokes and stunts in the water.

In the men's field, Gene Ruppart will instruct a men's beginners class on Tuesday and Thursday nights from 7 to 8 p.m. This group has been rapidly growing and is in great demand. Covering basically the same material as the women's class, it will be designed to give a man plenty of summer fun in swimming. It begins March 26 for six weeks. Mr. Ruppart will also offer the first senior life saving course for both men and women beginning at age 18 and up. This course will not necessarily be for those who wish to become life-savers for employment purposes but may be for those who want knowledge for safer family swimming this summer.

All courses will be open to registrations and those interested in getting in these groups are urged to register at the YMCA immediately by calling 2-0144.

Moon Regains Batting Range in Cards' Loss

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Wally Moon of the St. Louis Cardinals, who tailed off late last year in a bid for the batting championship of the National League, is off to a hot start this spring.

Moon went 4-for-4 Sunday while the Cardinals were being roughed up by the Chicago White Sox 12-3.

The Cardinals' outfielder hit his third springtime home run and the second in as many games. He's batting .400, exhibition-wise.

Yankees Blast Cincinnati for 9-0 Conquest

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Manager Birdie Tebbetts says Johnny Klippstein is one of the "big five" pitchers for Cincinnati's Redlegs, but the wiry righthander ran into big trouble Sunday against New York's Yankees.

Klippstein, who won 12 games last season, yielded seven hits and four runs in the four innings he worked.

But his successors, Don Gross and Raul Sanchez, had similar trouble with the Yankee team that nailed down a 9-0 exhibition victory.

One bright feature of the game—for Cincinnati—was Alex Grammas' adroit triple play, first for the Redlegs in this year's spring training. Grammas, playing shortstop, speared a liner hit in the third by Yogi Berra, stepped on second base to catch Gil McDougald, and threw to first to nip Mickey Mantle.

Second-sacker Johnny Temple was the only Redleg to reach third base. He made it in the opening inning, but was stranded when Wally Post hit into a double play.

The Yankees belted out 15 hits off the Redleg hurlers, including three homers, a triple and a double.

And the Yanks also racked up double plays in each of the first five innings.

Mantle chipped in two homers, one from each side of the plate.

Tebbetts nominated Joe Nuxhall and Warren Hacker for today's exhibition game with Boston's Red Sox.

Marion Awarded Summer Session of Boxing Group

A year ago, the Ohio Association of Boxing and Wrestling Commissions were charged with being on its last legs by a leading southern Ohio newspaper, which predicted the death of boxing in Ohio.

Sunday, however, the association, headed by Dr. A. J. Wagner, Marion dentist, proved itself still to be a healthy, vigorous organization ready to wage a full-scale fight to improve the ring situation throughout the state.

THE GROUP, holding its annual spring meeting at the Neil House in Columbus, pledged itself to fight to stimulate amateur boxing through the state and, if necessary, to wage a struggle in the Ohio legislature to retain boxing control at a local level.

A bill, currently in the state legislature hopper, calls for the setting up of a state boxing commissioner with ring controls coming from Columbus. Ohio currently is one of three states with home rule of ring action. The other two are Florida and Massachusetts. None of the three has been hampered by gambling and underworld hinderances in their boxing programs, an association spokesman said.

During the Sunday business session, the association unanimously awarded its annual meeting to Marion. The summer session will be held at the Marion Elks Lodge on Saturday and Sunday, July 13 and 14. The Marion Boxing and Wrestling Commission will act as hosts for the event which will be highlighted by the election of officers.

—:—

THE LOCAL LEVEL versus state control discussion took up most of the Sunday afternoon sessions. Commissions were represented from Marion, Toledo, Akron, Cincinnati, Hamilton, Cleveland, Columbus and Mansfield. Every commission approved the home rule.

"We feel we're doing a good job," a spokesman for the Cleveland commission reported.

Following the discussion on the pending legislative study, Tom Possa of the Mansfield group, urged more attention be paid to amateur fighting. He told the group the Mansfield commission had revived the program and has thus far staged two shows which have been well received by the fight fans.

"Let's concentrate some on the amateur level. That's where we get our future pros," he urged the association. Several groups, including the Marion commission, reported they had been studying the plan and were nearly ready to announce concrete plans.

In addition to Dr. Wagner, Jimmy Williams represented the Marion commission.

Seattle Faces First Test in NIT Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—Top-seeded Seattle, boasting Elgin (Rabbit) Baylor, 13 straight victories and two 6-foot-7 players, makes its first start in the National Invitation Tournament against St. Bonaventure in Madison Square Garden tonight.

In the other half of the quarter-final double-header, Manhattan takes on Memphis State.

All indications point to an uncomfortable night for St. Bonaventure. The Bonnies have a 16-5 record compared with 22-2 for Seattle and certainly cannot come near the Chieftain's height.

Baylor is 6-6, but he is dwarfed by Dick Stricklin and Throton Humphries, each at 6-7.

Seattle drew a first-round bye, but St. Bonaventure showed it could hustle in its 90-72 rout of Cincinnati Saturday night.

Manhattan, probably the top team in the New York area, will be slightly favored over Memphis State in the other half of the twin bill. This is despite the fact that State shows a 22-5 record against Manhattan's 15-8.

Memphis State is a fast outfit, but didn't live up to expectations in downing Utah 77-75 Saturday.

Jack Burke, 1956 Masters golf winner with 289, finished second in 1952 when he shot a 290.

Patty Berg Wins 7th Tourney Title

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Patty Berg, 39-year-old golfer who has been a professional since 1940, packed her bags today for a trip west with hopes of passing the $100,000 mark in money winning.

The red-haired player from St. Andrews, Ill., put together 15 pars and three birdies Sunday to overtake the younger set and win her seventh titleholders golf championship.

Her spectacular 69 over the 6,290-yard hilly Augusta Country Club course was three under men's par and left Miss Berg with a 296 total for the 72-hole tournament. She won $1,000.

Three strokes back in second place was Anne Quast, 19-year-old amateur from Seattle, Wash.

Bragan Works To Aid Minors' Slugging King

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP)—Manager Bobby Bragan of the Pittsburgh Pirates says he's been giving Dick Stuart extra fielding practice because he wants to see Stuart make good.

"Just trying to help the boy out," said Bragan. "He has to learn to play the outfield better to get a chance in the majors, and I want to see that he gets one."

Senators Speed Effort To Swing Player Deal

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — President Calvin Griffith and Manager Chuck Dressen of the Washington Senators apparently are determined to do some trading soon.

Griffith reportedly telephoned the Detroit, Kansas City, Boston and Cleveland training camps Sunday to discuss swaps.

Caledonia Juniors Win Title Clash in Tourney

Mighty Caledonia buried Pleasant under a 64-12 score Saturday night to win with ease the 1957 Marion County Junior High School Basketball tournament. Morral turned back Prospect, 38-31, to take consolation honors. Both games were played before a capacity crowd in the Morral gymnasium.

Coach Bill Johnson's Donlat cagers, who amassed a grand total of 186 points in tourney wins over Claridon, Martel, and Morral, had little trouble recording their 18th straight win of the season. They jumped off to a relatively small 7-4 quarter lead, then shifted into high gear, leaving the floor at halftime on the long end of a 26-9 count. After three periods of shooting mayhem, the count was 47-10.

AT GAME'S END, the champions had lofted 20 goals and 24 free throws through Pleasant hoops. The Pandas were able to sift but three field completions through the Donia defense and added six charity shots to account for their point total.

Caledonia was paced by Tom Tomlin, who banged in 26 tallies on nine goals and eight free throws. John Detwiler added 11 and Bob Ray got 10. The victors hit their 24 gift chances on 37 attempts, compared to six completions of 21 efforts for the Pleasant quintet.

The Donians got to the finals by virtue of a 58-31 first round win over Claridon, a 77-12 second-session decision against the Martel five, and a 51-32 conquest of Morral in semi-final action.

In the night's consolation play, Morral broke up a tie game early in the second quarter, managed to hold Prospect at bay the rest of the game for a slim seven-point triumph.

—:—

THE COUNT WAS knotted at 8-8 at the quarter, but the Wildcats had edged ahead, 22-19, at the half. With the finale on deck, Morral still hung on to a three-digit margin, 30-27. The Bulldogs were tiring of the chase at game's end.

Morral managed 16 goals and six free throws, compared to a dozen counts from the field and seven tallies at the foul line for Prospect. Moore and Williams paced the Morral attack, with 12 and 10 points respectively. Rush banged in 10 for Prospect.

In and About Our Schools

While students in junior and senior high school are preoccupied with play rehearsals this week, elementary children in both city and county schools are busy discovering the first signs of spring which they are discussing in the classroom.

—Harding—

Intramural night at Harding will be Thursday at 6:30 p.m. in the gymnasium. William Cover, intramural director, has indicated that three games will be played.

Miss Margaret Craig will direct the first game pitting two teams from the Girls Athletic Association against each other. In the second game the junior class champions will play the senior class champions.

The final game will be between the Junior All-Stars and the Senior All-Stars. Members of these teams were selected by the junior and senior team captains.

Admission to the games will be 25 cents and tickets will be on sale at the door. Proceeds will be used to defray expenses of the intramural program.

Charles B. Truxal, secretary of the Ohio State Cleaners and Dyers Association in Columbus, will speak to the home economics and distributive education classes Tuesday at 8 a.m. in Room 101.

His topic will be "Fabrics and Their Relation to Cleaning and Dyeing." Members of the Adult Education class in retailing have been invited to attend the session.

—St. Mary—

The annual St. Mary St. Patrick Dinner Dance with presentation of athletic awards will be held in the Harding Hotel ballroom tonight at 6:30 p.m. Dancing will take place from 9:30 to 12 p.m.

During the Lenten season St. Mary students will attend the Way of the Cross and Benediction on Wednesday afternoons.

Rev. Robert L. Noon, assistant priest of St. Mary parish, showed films he had taken on a trip to Mexico last summer when he was a guest of the Spanish Club, "Los Conquistadores de Espanol," recently.

Terry Flynn and Jon Smith, president and vice president respectively of the Key Club, attended the Kiwanis Club luncheon meeting Thursday.

The date of senior graduation has been set for Sunday, June 2. Graduation pictures, invitations and name cards are expected to be ready soon.

Seven students recently toured a Lake Central Airline DC 3 passenger airplane at the local airport. They were Nancy Heckman, Pat Malo, Patsy Norris, Josie Huber, John Bull, Joe Ledford and Gary James.

Future Teachers Club Plans Grade School Visits

Harding Girls Will Gain Insight Into Careers During Program

By JUNE ROSEBERRY

The life of a teacher is a busy one, and likewise for those who aspire to be teachers. Members of the Future Teachers of America at Harding, for example, last week observed their annual banquet and this week are plunging into a new and even larger project.

Since the beginning of the year the 45 senior girls in the club have awaited an opportunity to observe teachers at work in the classroom as a means of discovering more about their chosen profession.

—:—

THIS OPPORTUNITY will be theirs Wednesday morning when they visit two different elementary classrooms in groups of 4 or 5.

The girls first learned of the classroom visitation opportunity when Miss Philomen Gregg, elementary supervisor, announced it Thursday at the club's annual banquet.

To be sure that students will receive the utmost advantage from their classroom experience, Miss Gregg plans a discussion with them Tuesday in which she will survey their interests and make assignments accordingly.

She stressed that the eye-witness view of teaching is designed to give each prospective teacher a broader idea of the overall elementary system, the field in which most are interested.

In stating what impressions she hoped the students would gain, Miss Gregg pointed out she particularly wants the girls to "see the wide variety of subjects pursued in the elementary school and the ways teachers employ to direct a child's development."

—:—

FOLLOWING THEIR visitations the club members will devote at least two meeting sessions to evaluation of their experiences, according to Miss Pansy Rauhauser, adviser.

The club, which meets one-half hour every two weeks, is devoted to the study of the various aspects of teaching as a career. Students not only gain a knowledge of what a career in teaching holds for them, but also tips on how to be a better teacher.

The club, organized four years ago at Harding, is composed entirely of girls this year for the first time. It is, however, open for boys' membership also. The only restriction is that one be a senior interested in teaching. Miss Rauhauser explained that because the number of local students interested in the profession is so large, membership of necessity has been restricted to seniors.

At the club meetings, panel discussions have been conducted on important professional considerations such as city vs. rural teaching and elementary vs. secondary instruction.

One club discussion centered around the advantages of teaching with various members explaining why they had selected the field as their career.

Among the teachers who appeared as speakers at club meetings was Miss Phyllis Corbin, a former member of the club now teaching at George Washington School. Miss Corbin revealed tips concerning teaching and also made suggestions for college courses the prospective teachers should select to their advantage.

—:—

AN ESPECIALLY significant meeting was held last month when Miss Lucile Foreman, English instructor, spoke before both the senior members and juniors interested in the club concerning Miss Louise Cunningham for whom the local organization was named.

Miss Foreman, a personal friend of Miss Cunningham, revealed the traits for which the teacher who daily inspired the lives of those about her with her many interests, was known.

Major activities of the group aside from their scheduled meetings include the annual banquet and the tea for prospective junior members.

More than 60 persons attended the banquet at the First Evangelical and Reformed Church last week during which Cecil W. Gabler, assistant to the superintendent, was the speaker. Mr. Gabler's topic was "So You're Going To Teach."

The tea lies ahead for the girls yet this year. With juniors as their guests, they will introduce them to the world of teaching.

During the tea, the senior girls busy activities as recorded in the annual scrapbook will be shown.

The girls at that time also will be wearing their FTA pins, designed as a flaming red torch of education with black trim. These represent affiliation with the National Education Association and Ohio Education Association.

Recognizing the contribution made by the FTA, several local organizations offer college scholarships and loans to members. The Delta Kappa Gamma sorority, composed of teachers, annually gives a tea for club members also.

SEVERAL of the girls attended conferences this year for prospective teachers. Ruth Ann Miller and Janice Young, president and vice president, respectively, journeyed to Columbus last fall for a conference at Ohio State University. Three other members attended a Bowling Green conference last fall. They were Brenda Blake, Dixie Geddis and Beverly Armbruster.

Other officers of the group include Nancy Neal, secretary; Loretta McCartney, assistant secretary; Nancy Thomas, treasurer; Mary Barkley, assistant treasurer, and Heidi Weinbaum, chairman of the social committee.

Although not all the girls in the club ultimately will enter teaching, they are gaining through the organization a more realistic picture of the potentialities the profession holds and are discovering the many avenues open to them in training and inspiring young minds to greater intellectual development through the career of teaching.

Local Principals Will Take Part in NEA's Conference

A cast of 200 teachers and principals from the Cincinnati public schools and surrounding area will present a pageant commemorating the centennial of the NEA.

Panelists Will Discuss Delinquency Problem

"How Can We Attack Juvenile Delinquency?" will be the problem considered by a panel of five at the spring meeting of the Marion County Teachers' Association in La Rue at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Members of the panel are Judge Edward J. Ruzzo, moderator; Mary Ann Forry, student from Morral; Rev. J. B. Holloway, Marion minister; Don Meredith, Green Camp parent, and E. E. Banning, Pleasant teacher.

During the business meeting officers will be elected for the coming year and plans will be made for the county observance of the National Education Association's centennial.

Joe Sunpool is an idealistic Navajo youth who is eager to learn printing.

He believes that a knowledge of this art will enable him to make an educational contribution to his people. The transition which Joe makes from his primitive past life to modern ways makes fascinating reading.

Through this book the reader becomes more aware of Indian problems today and of needed Indian legislation. The line illustrations in black and white by the Indian artist, Alan Houser, add interest to the text.

Historic Event

I saw Johnny Podres fire that last pitch. There was the soft grounder to Pee Wee Reese which he rifled over to Gil Hodges and the Dodgers had won their first World Series. I was there, too, when Jack Barry threw that fatal curve—"Who is the king of Belgium?" — and watched Charles Van Doren, who is everyone's adopted quiz contestant, go down to defeat. I missed the firing on Fort Sumter and the signing of the Magna Carta, but those were relatively trifling affairs.

JOHN CROSBY

One of our most endearing national traits—and one of our most precious assets—is our way of getting all worked up over World Series or quiz contestants. It is a wonderful way to let off steam. I claim it keeps us out of a lot of trouble.

If the Germans had had a World Series, they would not, I think, have got so worked up over the Sudetenland. We might well export our quiz contestants. As a matter of fact, we have—the quiz idea having taken root in England and Italy where I devoutly hope it will alleviate deeper discontents.

OF COURSE, THIS particular clash might have started a war. "The whole nation is enjoying this battle tonight," said Mr. Barry. "The battle of the century. Man against woman and all that sort of thing."

That put a nasty sexual twist on the affray that I thought wholly unnecessary. The sexes, always teetering dangerously on the edge of open warfare, began to snarl at one another and there were border incidents here and there, several women openly sneering at men about their superiority after Mrs. Nearing came out ahead.

I'm happy Mrs. Nearing put an end to all this by declaring ringingly: "The age of feminism is dead. Women are not recognized as women any more, but as people. This wasn't a woman defeating a man, but one person defeating a fella." That's telling 'em.

EVEN MR. BARRY retreated hurriedly from the sex angle after it was all over. Mr. Van Doren was acclaimed for what he had done for "the youth of America." Now that's more like it. He didn't go at it those 14 weeks in order to win $129,000. He did for the "youth of America."

And Mrs. Nearing's triumph was not a victory for womenkind, but a clear recognition that democracy is the best form of government, that tyranny everywhere will eventually be overthrown, that America is the last land of opportunity, and that everybody eventually loses the dice.

Now all that remains is an apology to Belgium. Anyone who could remember all those obscure vice presidential candidates and can't remember the name of one of the few remaining European monarchs. . . Oh, brother, are we in trouble in Brussels!

THERE WERE GREAT big advertisements warning us all not to miss the first two minutes of NBC-TV's new show, "Panic" (8:30 p.m. Tuesdays). In the first one, a man wobbles into a confessional and tells a priest he's going to kill a man and manages to mutter just enough to indicate that he's planted a bomb somewhere—before he dies.

In the second one, a lifer in a prison says: "You better tell your guards to shoot to kill, warden, because I'm going to tear this place apart, brick by brick. I'm going to get to see her (his ill wife, who is in another prison) somehow. Nothing will stop me. Nothing! Nothing! Nothing!"

The problem of the priest is to find that bomb before it goes off and hurts someone. The problem of the prisoner is to break out of one prison and get his wife out of another—all in half an hour. Both of them succeed. If all this sounds like that old radio (later television) show, "Suspense," well, that's how the cookie crumbles, dad.

Actor Carries Token of Luck In War, Plays

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — There's something about the profession of acting that causes many actors to believe in signs and portents and to carry good luck charms. None can explain exactly why.

This came to mind the other day in glancing through the cast of "Walk Down the Hill," a drama about American prisoners of war in World War II which "Studio One" (CBS-TV) presents tonight.

Playing the role of Shephard Lawton is a young actor named Frank Sutton from Nashville, Tenn. While Frank never was a prisoner of war, he can certainly play the role with authority. As Sgt Sutton of the 592nd Joint Assault Signal Company in World War II he made nine beachhead assaults in the Palaus and the Philippines.

Before Frank sailed overseas, he indulged in a sentimental gesture. Emptying a tiny bottle of cleaning fluid, he filled it with American soil and carried it with him Later he defended the act as the result of his having a highly developed dramatic sense at the age of 19 Later, too, he came to believe in that bottle of soil.

The 592nd had it rough. It went ashore on initial assaults, stayed two or three weeks until perimeter and communications were secured, and then was pulled out Casualties were very high. But Sutton was never scratched.

Before each operation nearly everybody pared down equipment to rifle, ammo and rations. But Frank always found room for that tiny bottle of American soil.

Seeing his name in the cast of tonight's "Studio One" drama, I asked him about the role.

"I've been demoted," he said. "No sergeant's stripes. The role I play is that of a 'light-fingered loner' in a P.W. camp. In a way I'm a catalyst on the central character."

I asked him whatever became of that little bottle of American soil.

"I still carry it around," he said.

Will he be carrying it in tonight's drama?

"Oh, sure. Why not?"

Death of Small Boy's Mongrel Dog Stirs Up Storm in Texas

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — The death of a small mongrel dog, key figure in a gun fight that resulted in the firing of five dogcatchers, continued today to stir up a controversy.

The dog, Blackie, was found floating in a bayou Saturday near where its young master and another boy holed up with a rifle and held off police and dog catchers for an hour last Wednesday.

The two 14 - year - old boys, Charles Layman and Robert Garcia, said the shooting occurred after a dog catcher tried to shoot Blackie. Dogcatcher Otis O'Callahan said he fired to scare the dog after it bit him. No one was hurt in the exchange.

City Commissioner Tom Juneman revealed Sunday that five temporary dog catchers have been fired and a drive to rid the city of strays has been called off.

Blackie had been put in the pound for a 14 day observation period. The boys were suspended from school. Irate citizens had rallied to their side after the story was published.

Mrs. Ruby Layman, mother of Charles, said when she asked to see Blackie Friday, she was offered any other animal in the pound.

She said Charles was hysterical after finding Blackie's body. She said the dog's head had been mutilated by what appeared to be a "shotgun blast."

Earlier all but the head dog catcher was disarmed as a result of the incident.

"In this case it's highly possible," Juneman said, that the dog was killed in anger. But he added, "I don't think that is the case."

Mayor George Clough, however, thought otherwise. "I don't see why they killed that little fellow's dog," he said. "And I'm going to see that it doesn't happen again."

A meeting was to be held today between the boys' parents and school officials to discuss their suspension.

Algeria, in North Africa, has a population of 9,800,000. Of these about 1,050,000 are of European origin, mostly from France.

NOT 'GOING WEST.' Actress Barbara Nichols, who has become known in Hollywood as the girl most likely to succeed Mae West, demonstrates that she can go through "Come up and see me some time" routine but has no intention of following in Mae's footsteps.

Plates Mixed

BRISTOL, R. I. (AP) — Gene Accardi received his automobile registration plates Sunday like thousands of other Rhode Islanders.

But his were different.

One was GA 306 and the other FW 306.

He sent them back to the registry of motor vehicles and waited for the other person who got mixed plates to do the same.

London Society Doctor Goes On Trial for 'Greed Killings'

LONDON (AP)—Dr. John Bodkin Adams, accused of killing three rich patients out of greed, today pleaded innocence as he went on trial for murder.

The 58-year-old society doctor is charged specifically with murdering Mrs. Edith Alice Morrell, elderly eccentric widow the prosecution claimed at a preliminary court hearing was only one of his victims.

The doctor was accused of turning the 81-year-old widow into a drug addict while slowly poisoning her in 1950.

The cause of her death was officially recorded as a stroke. The body was cremated in accordance with her will and the ashes were scattered over the English Channel.

Mrs. Morrell left an estate of more than 60,000 pounds (168,000 dollars.) Dr. Adams inherited a chest of Georgian antique silver and was later given her Rolls Royce by the dead woman's son in appreciation for the care he had given his mother.

Rumors a year ago led to a Scotland Yard inquiry into the deaths of some of the elderly people.

Dr. Adams was arrested late last year on 13 offenses involving forgery, larceny and violations of the cremation act.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Oils and steels took losses in a generally lower stock market early this afternoon.

The decline was general but trading was quiet.

The steel and oil issues showed somewhat greater losses than other divisions but there was no particular selling pressure.

The Middle East situation remained a question mark to cause hesitation, while the lower steel output and softening copper prices were further dampeners on enthusiasm, brokers said.

Industrials were the worst losers today. Utilities showed slight declines and rails were narrowly mixed.

Gulf Oil was down well beyond a point. Royal Dutch and Standard Oil (New Jersey) each dropped about a point.

Youngstown's early loss of about a point widened. U. S. Steel worsened an initial decline to one of about a point.

International Nickel dropped around two, Kennecott about a point.

U. S. government bonds declined.

State Tax Money Is Distributed for Government Units

The first quarter distribution of gasoline taxes, auto license fees and sales taxes for 1957 is being made this week to Marion City, the county's 15 townships and seven villages, according to Maurice Clements, Marion County auditor.

In all, a total of $29,532 from sales taxes is being distributed to the county, city, villages and townships for general fund operations

Each township will receive $2,000 from a $30,000 gasoline tax fund. This money is commonly used for the maintenance and repair of roads.

In addition, motor vehicle license fee funds being distributed includes $1,579 to the county, $171 to Marion city, and $56 to each of the villages. This latter sum is the distribution for the period ending Dec. 31, 1956, Mr. Clements pointed out.

The apportionment of the sales tax money is made in the following manner: 10 per cent to the townships; 5 per cent to the villages; 50 per cent to Marion city; and 35 per cent to the county.

The 15 townships will receive the following amounts: Big Island, $202; Bowling Green, $129; Claridon, $217; Grand, $66; Grand Prairie, $118; Green Camp, $122; Marion, $677; Montgomery, $202; Pleasant, $325; Prospect, $214; Richland, $199; Salt Rock, $115; Scott, $99; Tully, $161; Waldo, $101.

Sums to be received by each of the seven villages are the following: Caledonia, $243; Green Camp, $144; LaRue, $294; Morral, $171; New Bloomington, $107; Prospect, $383; and Waldo, $132. Marion city will receive a total of $14,766, while the county gets $10,336, Mr. Clements reported.

Labor Troubles Plague British Prime Minister

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan called Cabinet ministers to an urgent conference today on a 200,000-man shipyard strike paralyzing Britain's vast shipbuilding industry.

The threat of two more giant strikes—among railway and manufacturing workers — confronted the conservative government only three days before Macmillan's Bermuda meetings with President Eisenhower.

Ship, rail and factory workers sought 10 per cent wage increased, citing a steady rise in the cost of living.

Britain's 70 shipyards lay idle and deserted.

The soil of the slopes of Mt. Etna in Italy, one of the most fertile on earth, is enriched by volcanic dust.

3 Dead in Ashland Truck-Car Mishap

ASHLAND, Ohio (AP)—A car collided with a truck carrying 15 men and some hunting dogs on Ohio 511 north of here Sunday, and a 63-year-old man and his two young sons died in the flames that followed.
